SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Background

The Energy Policy and Conservation Act (EPCA) establishes energy and water conservation standards and test procedures for consumer products and certain commercial and industrial equipment, including metal halide ballasts. DOE is publishing regulations to amend the test procedure for metal halide ballasts and establish requirements for the submission of compliance statements and certification reports for these ballasts. These regulations appear elsewhere in today's Federal Register.

The information that would be required by these regulations, if finalized, and that is the subject of this proposed collection of information, would be submitted by manufacturers to certify compliance with energy efficiency standards established by DOE for metal halide lamp ballasts. DOE would also use the information to determine whether an enforcement action is warranted.

II. Method of Collection

Respondents have a choice of either electronic or paper forms. Methods of submittal include e-mail of electronic forms, and mail and facsimile transmission of paper forms.
