

Mr. Thomas (Hal) Harvey

CEO, ClimateWorks Foundation

Prior to 1990, Mr. Harvey ran a construction company in Colorado, designing and building solar homes, and was Security Program Director of Rocky Mountain Institute. From 1990 through 2001, Mr. Harvey served as founder and President of the Energy Foundation, a joint initiative of a half-dozen large U.S. foundations. The Energy Foundation is a member of the ClimateWorks network. From 2001-2008, Mr. Harvey served as Environment Program Director at the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, one of the largest environment programs in the U.S. Their focus is on preserving the great landscapes and ecosystems of the North American West, and reducing the threat of global warming by promoting sound energy policy. The latter program supports work in the U.S., Mexico, Brazil, Canada, and China.

Mr. Harvey was a member of the Energy Panel of the President's Committee of Advisors on Science and Technology (PCAST), where he chaired the Transportation Task Force and was a member of the Energy Efficiency Task Force (Clinton). He was also a member of the Energy Task Force of the President's Council on Environmental Quality (Bush I).

Mr. Harvey has B.S. and M.S. degrees from Stanford University in Engineering, specializing in Energy Planning.
