Electronic Handbook of Industrial Resources

OKLAHOMA

November 2010

Introduction

This handbook provides a comprehensive listing of incentives, tools, and resources for industrial manufacturing energy efficiency in the state of Utah. The document is organized according to industrial system and features information on rebates, waived fees, tax credits, loans, and other resources, such as analysis tools, education and training programs, and energy assessments. The handbook is based on data available in the States Incentives and Resources Database, which is maintained by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) Industrial Technologies Program (ITP).

The States Incentives and Resources Database is a comprehensive searchable online database of approximately 3,100 energy efficiency incentives organized by state. The database is updated regularly and is accessible via the Save Energy Now State and Regional Partnerships' Web site:

State Industrial Overview

Oklahoma has a total of 3.7 million residents and ranks 29th in the nation in terms of GDP, which is $146.4 billion. The state is home to four Fortune 500 companies. In 2008, Oklahoma ranked 18th in the nation's industrial energy consumption at 558.9 trillion Btu and 7th in the nation's industrial natural gas consumption at 259.9 trillion Btu.<sup>1</sup>

More than a dozen of the 100 largest natural gas fields in the United States are in Oklahoma, and the state is one of the top gas-producing states in the country. In addition, Oklahoma has five petroleum refineries in the state that account for approximately all U.S. distillation capacity.<sup>2</sup>

Exhibit 1 below compares the industrial energy consumption in Oregon in relation to the national average. The chart in Exhibit 2 is a visual representation of the same data.

Exhibit 1: Total Industrial Energy Consumption Statistics in Oklahoma

Federal and National Industrial Energy Efficiency Programs

In addition to the state level programs outlined in more detail in section III there are many government and non-government organizations that have resources to assist industry in the western region to utilize energy more effectively. Financial and technical resources are available from federal agencies, national laboratories, utilities, utility associations, industrial organizations, energy efficiency organizations, state energy offices, energy services companies, non-profits or non-governmental organizations, foundations, and private companies.

ITP is one such program that provides industrial manufacturers across the country with a variety of energy efficiency tools, resources, and incentives. ITP is a prime example of DOE's commitment to improving the energy efficiency of industrial operations in the United States. ITP is a multi-faceted outreach and deployment initiative designed specifically for industrial manufacturers. ITP supports research and development of energy efficient technologies, provides industry with energy management and assessment tools, resources, and information. It also provides no-cost energy assessments to industrial plants of all size.

Several other federal agencies offer energy efficiency incentives in addition to the multitude of DOE resources. Internal Revenue Service, for instance, provides tax incentives to industrial manufacturers that implement energy efficiency projects. In addition, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency provides loans on new energy efficient construction and incentives on the implementation of combined heat and power systems. Finally, the U.S. Department of Agriculture is another federal agency that provides incentives to rural and small industrial operations seeking to become more energy efficient.
